

ASSIGNMENT

Glucose syrup can be produce from many types of plants. Choose one raw material available in your county other than mentioned in the previous paper that is potential in producing glucose syrup for commercialization. Identify and write in details the technical aspects of producing this product for commercial purposes. It should include the process flow sheet (comprises of unit operations), process details, production flowrate, mode of operation etc. for the pilot plants to be built in studying the scale-up of the process.